Super Religare buys Dubai co for $20m

SUPER Religare Labs, promoted by the Singh brothers, has acquired Dubai-based Mena Healthcare for $20 million, report Khomba Singh & Paramita Chatterjee from New Delhi. This is the group's second acquisition after the promoter's sold their stake in Ranbaxy Laboratories.

Super Religare Labs, formerly SRL Ranbaxy CEO Sanjeev Chaudhry told ET, "We have acquired Mena Healthcare facility in Dubai for $20 million. This is the company's first overseas acquisition." In August, Religare Wellness, (formerly Fortis Healthworld) the pharma retail arm of the group acquired rival firm CRS Health. Malvinder Singh, the joint promoter of the group, had earlier said that the group would aggressively pursue expansion.
